By all means marry! If you get a good spouse, you'll become happy. If you get a bad one, you'll become a philosopher.

My wife has a speech impediment. Every now and then she takes a breath.

PREVIOUS MEETING (8/23/2017) by Dorothy Pratt

Writer and movie critic Gus Mollasis challenged his Rotary listeners to "write one true sentence about yourself every day." "How do you want to be remembered," he asked. "What's important in life? It's why I write." He's working on two memoirs: one on philanthropist Betty Schoenbaum and the other on Detroit TV and advertising icon Mr. Belvedere - Bud Lezel.

Mollasis is a writer, producer, author and film teacher. His acclaimed PBS TV series, "Diamonds Along the Highway," will soon return to the airwaves for a third season.

He likes Schoenbaum's philosophy that "the joy of giving is the joy of living." Her late husband, Alex, gave $31.9 million to the Salvation Army that had given him soup when he was hungry.

"One of my heroes was Johnny Carson. I miss that era," Mollasis said. "I enjoy interacting with people; interviewing face to face....I thank God for the arts we have here."

Mollasis, who has always supported our film festival, hopes that this area will offer more opportunities for talented people to stay here and make films.
